I have now decided to make a thesis of it and am posting my new post here. Although I am not an expert in the field of the thesis, my supervisor has warned me to use the thesis as the source for my project. He says that the thesis is far more complete than any MS Office spreadsheet. I am not sure what this means. I am not an expert in the field and can't find any information online that explains this. I am only asking for the opinions of others on this. I want to be able to select a thesis and make a spreadsheet from it. If I get good at this then maybe I will have my own library. Re: Excel Spreadsheet vs Thesis hi first off, you will get lots of views when your post shows up. but what your supervisor means is that the thesis has been put through a very thorough text/editing process where both accuracy and clarity are of critical importance and the best thing to use is that work. in other words, your supervisor can not see the error in someone's thesis and tells them to use the thesis in the future. in your case, you might use something that is already created and finish it off, it's fine to use a thesis if it is done professionally, but you can't just copy someone else's work. Qt Clipper (Final 2022)

Qt Clipper is a lightweight piece of software that allows you save content to clipboard and reuse it to other applications via a simple double click and paste. Quick setup and intuitive, clean interface The installation is a direct process and should not take more than a few seconds. Upon launch, you are welcomed by a tidy and intuitive interface that includes the instructions on how to use the app. The main window consists of a small window that enables you to preview the content that you copied to clipboard as well as a clear button that permits you clear all entries. You should know that the content is displayed with empty lines that are acting as time separators. The immediate entries are not separated by lines but are displayed on different rows. Although it is not very advanced, the management system is easy to understand. You can paste any regular text on the clipboard The highlight of the program stems from the fact that you can select the desired content to paste with a simple double-click. Consequentially, you can save even more time that you would otherwise spend attempting to select the string that you want to paste into another file or document. On the other hand, it is important to note that the application only works with text, so you are not able to paste images for instance. Then again, let us not forget that text can include code strings, URLs as well as content from websites and documents. A tool that can be useful for everyday projects The size of the file is around 400 Kbytes Concerning the filesize, the client is quite light and can easily be stored on a memory stick. Even so, the program should not slow your computer down for more than a few seconds. Moreover, it can be easily be installed onto a USB thumb drive, and you can carry it around with you on an everyday basis. There is also an open source alternative for Qt Clipper If you are feeling adventurous and want to try a different application, then Qt Clip, is an open source alternative that allows you to interact with the clipboard. Although the user interface is different and not as eye-catching, this app works very similarly to the previous mention. Therefore, you can easily make the transition to Qt Clipper if you want to, as it will not cause any compatibility issues. Conclusions In conclusion, Qt Clipper is a simple tool that can be a vital asset to your computer's productivity and can save you some precious time. However, make sure to first test the app thoroughly before investing your money in it.The present invention relates

My Startup: Trendymap - mapology.com - mpclark So, to give some background information: I'm in the UK and have worked in Journalism for some time, writing a lot about marketing and Web2.0. For fun I write a blog about things I'm interested in, like Linux and the link I've posted is a good example of this.I've had an idea in my head for a while now, but I wanted to launch a product so that I could get experience of running a web service.It has taken me 2 months to get a prototype done, and even longer to get it stable enough to launch.It's called Trendymap, and it's a location-based map where you can look at the hottest trends in your local area. For instance, if you search for 'brunch' in London, then Trendymap will show you all the places that are now claiming to offer brunch at a particular price.I'm interested to hear your thoughts about the site - 've got some great ideas for new features and new locations, and I'm also interested to hear if anyone has any good
